DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because:
 - a. Figure 2 elements 231 and 233, fig. 3. 331, 333, fig. 5.540-543, fig. 6.623-624, fig. 9.910-930, fig. 10.1010, fig. 12.1202, and fig. 14.1400 are not in the drawings.
 - b. Figure 12 element 1207 is not in the specification
 - c. In figure 11 the numbers are not clearly pointing to elements
 - d. Figure 2 has 301 instead of 201
 - e. Figure 2 has 201? written at the bottom.

Please check over all drawings to ensure any other mistakes were not overlooked. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d), or amendment to the specification to add the reference character(s) in the description in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(b) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

2. Claim 12 is objected to because of the following informalities: In line 7 the claim states: "an indication of path reservation and an indication of a --- for the path reservation." The symbol --- has been inserted to indicate the presence of a missing word. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 2, 4, 10, 12-14, 16, and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tancevski (US 2006/0092958).
4. In regards to claim 1, Tancevski discloses a network comprising: a plurality of data channels (figure 2 element 24); a control channel (fig. 2.22); tokens which pass between nodes on the control channel (fig. 4.30); wherein tokens advertise availability of receivers at a destination node and notify a source when a transmission did not succeed (paragraph 27).
5. In regards to claim 2, Tancevski discloses the network of claim 1, wherein nodes evaluate the tokens to determine if a data payload is destined for and substantially simultaneously arriving at that node on one of the data channels (Figure 6 indicates each node monitors the status of every other node. Each node knows which nodes and transmitting and which nodes are receiving the transmissions, including themselves. As described in paragraph 26, the round trip time for a token is as little as 50 microseconds. This is sufficiently small to be simultaneous.)
6. In regards to claim 4, Tancevski discloses the network of claim 1, wherein each node of the network has fewer transmitters and receivers than data channels (Paragraph 27 indicates some or all stations are tunable to only a subset of the channels).

Art Unit: 2616

7. In regards to claim 10, Tancevski discloses the network of claim 1, wherein transmitting nodes reserve apparently available receivers at downstream nodes without external confirmation (paragraph 24, node reserves a channel without any outside confirmation).

8. In regards to claim 12, Tancevski discloses a network comprising: a plurality of data channels (figure 2 element 24); a control channel (fig. 2.22); tokens which pass between nodes on the control channel (fig. 4.30); wherein nodes evaluate the tokens to determine if a data payload is destined for and substantially simultaneously arriving at that node on one of the data channels (Figure 6 indicates each node monitors the status of every other node. Each node knows which nodes and transmitting and which nodes are receiving the transmissions, including themselves. As described in paragraph 26, the round trip time for a token is as little as 50 microseconds. This is sufficiently small to be simultaneous.); and wherein each token includes an indication of a path reservation and an indication of a for the path reservation (Figure 6 indicates that each token includes information as to which channel is being used by each node.).

9. In regards to claim 13, Tancevski discloses the network of claim 12, wherein tokens advertise availability of receivers at a destination node and notify a source when a transmission did not succeed (paragraph 27).

10. In regards to claim 14, Tancevski discloses the network of claim 12, wherein each node of the network has fewer transmitters and receivers than data channels (Paragraph 27 indicates some or all stations are tunable to only a subset of the channels).

11. In regards to claim 16, Tancevski discloses the network of claim 12, wherein transmitting nodes reserve apparently available receivers at downstream nodes without external confirmation (paragraph 24, node reserves a channel without any outside confirmation).

Art Unit: 2616

12. In regards to claim 17, Tancevski discloses the network of claim 12, wherein the network comprises a ring topology (fig. 1).

Allowable Subject Matter

13. Claims 18-21 are allowed.

14. Claims 3, 5-9, 11, and 15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
